No single strategy can solve a complex challenge such as education. The 75th anniversary of the UN is another opportunity for us to realize the right to education — especially in conflict settings. When we work together, we must not forget to place the right to education on the international agenda.

The session was a step in the work of the Steering Committee, representing foundations and organizations working to achieve the goals. In a time when the COVID-19 pandemic has led to the largest ever disruption of education, we must remember that education is an integral part of human capital and development, as well as a driver and outcome of sustainable development," said EAA Communication Manager and Head of Advocacy Muhabah Al Thani. "To achieve the 2030 Agenda, the collaborative efforts of governments and civil society partners across sectors is critical and will impact the future of young people and countries' development decades to come. The session was a step in the right direction to achieving inclusive and equitable quality education for all and in fulfilling targets across the SDGs," he added.

Ambassador H E Sheikha Alya Ahmed bin Saif Al Thani (Deputy Representative to the UN) said. "Work together, we must not forget to place the right to education on the international agenda.

Economic growth or poverty reduction will certainly not be met. Working together to jointly find solutions that are sustainable and durable and that recognize the interdependence of people, planet and prosperity is the only path to deliver on the promise of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and its SDGs.

The high level discussion also featured speakers including UNESCO Assistant Director-General for Education, Stefano Giannini, UN Office for Partnerships Executive Director Amantia Hsuan and Cambodia’s Minister of Education, Youth and Sport, Dr. Hang Chorn Naron in 2017. EAA was appointed by UNESCO to lead the SDG – Education 2030 Steering Committee, representing foundations and organisations working to achieve the goals.

Lebanon and Israel announce talks over disputed sea border

Lebanon and Israel have reached an agreement on a framework of indirect, US-mediated talks over a long-standing disputed maritime border between the two countries, the parties announced yesterday.

The talks will be held at the headquarters of the UN peacekeeping force in the southern Lebanese border town of Naqura under the banner of the United Nations. In separate statements announcing the talks, the sides did not disclose when they would begin.

The agreement “will allow both countries to begin discussions which have the potential to yield greater stability, security and prosperity for both Lebanon and Israel,” a UN official said in Naqura.

The Israeli representative said that the agreement is the result of nearly three years of intense diplomatic engagement by US officials.

President Michel Aoun welcomed the agreement saying he hopes “that the American side will continue its role as a mediator,” he said. Aoun added that he will be supervising the talks starting with the formation of the team and throughout the negotiations.

Lebanon and Israel hold monthly tripartite indirect meeting in Naqura to discuss violations along their border. The countries also hold indirect negotiations in the 1950s when Arab states and Israel were working on reaching peace agreements. Although the Palestinian Liberation Organization, Jordan and Syria signed agreements with Israel in 1994, its territorial waters will help it pay back its massive debt.

Lebanon and Syria did not sign any of these agreements. The framework comes as Lebanon is trying to return to a full lockdown, potentially devastating its already fragile economy. After recording 1,762 new cases of COVID-19 in the highest daily tally since the start of the outbreak.

The country’s total number of confirmed infections now stands at 128,643 with 1,121 deaths since the first case surfaced in early March. Health Minister Samir Halaby said yesterday in a statement.

Jordan, which had some of the lowest numbers of infections in the region in the first few months of the pandemic’s spread, has seen daily numbers rise alarmingly this month with health officials saying the country now faces a critical humanitarian crisis.

The government could be forced to impose a full lockdown that would paralyse daily activity and suspend businesses if a “dangerous” spiral of cases makes it difficult for the country to cope with COVID-19. Health Minister Saleh Rafat, a member of the Jordanian League of Physicians, told Bayan TV in an interview that Jordan’s healthcare system could face severe strain if the spread of the coronavirus continues.

Officially, they will enforce regulations that were already in place since the beginning of the crisis last March that ban events, prevent gatherings and close schools.

A two-week closure of schools was extended for the first time, in addition to the lockdown of most workplaces.

The government also slapped further restrictions on gathering, parties, weddings, funerals and social gatherings where more than 20 people attend, in an attempt to impose health safeguards.

True believers according to the Quran

Allah Almighty says: For only those are true believers who, when Allah is mentioned, their hearts tremble; and when His verses are recited to them, it increases them in faith; and upon their Lord alone do they rely (Al Araf 8:2). This ayah describes the quality of true believers who when Allah is mentioned, they feel a fear in their hearts, and thus implement His orders and abstain from His prohibitions.

T he Holy Quran is not a story of religions started after the death of Prophet Mohammad (PBUH), but rather the stories of the Prophets and the events that took place before the death of the Prophet. It is a book of guidance for all time. Muslims believe that anyone who has witnessed a miracle should consult the Quran. Thus, the Quran should be the first thing to consider in any argument or discussion related to Islam. The Quran is a book that presents a complete description of the believers in the Quran, and how they should behave in different situations. In this ayah, Allah says that true believers should always express their fear of Allah and His Messenger (PBUH) even in front of the enemies of Islam. This is because their dedication to Allah alone, seeking His help and guidance, is what will lead them to victory.

Right action, activism
The above ayah stresses the fact that all Muslims, whether they be believers or not, have to strive hard in life to achieve the highest level of faith. They should keep battling against any obstacle that comes their way, and continue to strive until they reach the highest level of faith.

Righy baharhood
Believers are those who have no fear of Allah and His Messenger (PBUH). They are those who live their lives in accordance with the Quran and Sunnah and who always remember Allah in their hearts. They are those who are devoted to Allah and His Prophet (PBUH) and who always strive to please Him.

Revise your relationship with the Quran

Pray the five times, attend Salat (Prayer) regularly, and always watch over yourself to ensure that you are always on the right track.

Make sure you understand the meaning of every verse in the Quran and try to implement its teachings in your daily life.

Be aware of the importance of the Quran and ensure that you study it regularly.

Always remember Allah and His Messenger (PBUH) in your heart, and strive to please Him at all times.

Overwhelming blessings
The Quran is the source of all blessings and merits. It is a book of guidance that will help you in all aspects of your life. It is a book that will guide you in the right path and ensure that you are always on the right track.

Use the Quran as a guide in your daily life and try to implement its teachings in your daily life.

Always remember Allah and His Messenger (PBUH) in your heart, and strive to please Him at all times.

The Quran is a book of guidance that will help you in all aspects of your life. It is a book of guidance that will help you in all aspects of your life. It is a book of guidance that will help you in all aspects of your life.
South Africa's economy has been hit by a coronavirus pandemic that has caused widespread job losses and a sharp decline in economic activity. The country's economy contracted by 7.0% in the second quarter of 2020, with the unemployment rate reaching 32.6% in the third quarter. The government has implemented various measures to contain the spread of the virus, including lockdowns, travel restrictions, and social distancing guidelines. These measures have had a significant impact on the economy, with the hospitality, tourism, and entertainment sectors particularly hard hit. However, the government has also provided economic assistance to small businesses and individuals affected by the pandemic. As of the end of 2020, the government had implemented a large-scale fiscal stimulus package worth R500 billion, which aimed to support the economy and create jobs.

The global economic recovery is slowing from a bounce to a grind

The best is already over for a global economic recovery that started all at a sprint and is turning into a slog. That’s the warning on Wall Street economists heading into the final months of a traumatic year. Some $20 trillion in stimulus from governments and central banks helped to lift the world’s economies and many countries out of recession. But for multiple reasons, the last legs are in to be the hardest.

Politicians could fail back the fiscal support that’s been key to recovery – as they’ve already done in the US. Temporary job supports may hatch international ones, a worried compounding of one’s peak corporate jobs lost in Dubai and Dubai is the world’s largest city, with some 3 million people. But for multiple reasons, the last peaks are in to be the hardest.

Interimanny ANJAYAD MARK

Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan was reported to be “interested in” a US-style “investor confidence agreement” with Chinese President Xi Jinping. Khan, who hosts a weekly radio program, said in his speech that Pakistan is a “country of billions of dreams.”

The agreement would involve a billion-dollar loan from China to finance the construction of a 500-kilometer railway line between the two countries. The agreement was reportedly signed during a visit by Xi Jinping to Pakistan. Khan also said that Pakistan would consider extending the agreement to other countries in the region.

Brexit bill plan: EU takes legal action against UK

The European Union took legal action against Britain yesterday over its plan to pass legislation that would breach parts of the legally binding divorce agreement the two sides reached last year.

The EU moved enforced the worsening relations between Britain, which was a member of the bloc until January 1, and Brussels as they try to forge a new future trade agreement before the end of the year, but the bloc's trade commissioner, Cecilia Malmström, said the UK Internal Market Bill would have “serious implications”.

The European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen said the Brexit bill plan “incompatible” with the good faith laid down in the Withdrawal Agreement.”

The EU has given London until tomorrow to withdraw the bill, but UK lawmakers have already passed the legislation to push the past year’s post-Brexit trade agreements.

Ursula von der Leyen said the “deadline yesterday”. The problem is that the Commission has decided to send a letter of “unlawfulness” to the UK government, which the UK is refusing to accept.

The Commission will continue to work towards an end to the current period that followed Britain’s exit from the European Union, the EMA said.

The EMA said it would not make final decisions on the safety and effectiveness of the ChAdOx1 nCoV-19 vaccine becoming the first formulation to enter and leave the bloc until January 31. Both the EMA and the European Commission have agreed that the process will be completed by that time.

The European Medicines Agency (EMA) has launched a consultation on its new framework for the approval of vaccines against COVID-19.

The European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen said that the British plan “incompatible” with the good faith laid down in the Withdrawal Agreement.”

The bill must also be approved by the UK’s House of Commons and the British Senate before it can be signed into law.

There are fears that the UK’s move to impose new trade rules on the EU could lead to a second round of conflict and negotiations.

Ohio death row inmate alleging racism-tainted jury, want new trial

An Ohio death row inmate is seeking a new trial based on allegations that some jurors used racial slurs in describing him during the trial, and that a juror displayed a picture of him in a hate site, according to arguments being filed Wednesday.

Defendant Gregory McKnight, 35, who was convicted about nearly 20 years ago for the 2000 kidnapping and fatal shooting of Emily Murray, a 20-year-old white student at Kenton College in central Ohio, told The Associated Press on a video call after being convicted in 2002 of murder for the killing around the same time of a 20-year-old black man, Gregory Julius.

McKnight alleged that racial stereotypes are contained in accounts provided to an investigator for McKnight’s attorneys who in 2017 began tracking down jurors from the trial.

"The deliberations were replete with racist statements and discussions of the tarest and most sickening nature during both the guilt and penalty phases of the trial,“ McKnight’s lawyers argued in a document filed with the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

The court filing said multiple people on the jury used a racial slur when referring to McKnight, according to one of the jurors interviewed by the investigator.

McKnight’s attorneys say McKnight kiddnapped Murray from the campus area and then shot her in the head near his rural home in the extreme southwest corner of Ohio.

McKnight was also accused of flash-burnishing Julious, whose skeletal remains were found on the property during a search.

Oil prices slide on weak demand outlook and higher Opec supplies

Reuters - London

Oil prices fell sharply yesterday as rising coronavirus cases dampened the demand outlook, with further price pressure from a rise in Opec+ output last month, though losses were capped by renewed hopes for US fiscal stimulus.

Brent crude futures fell $1.64 or 3.9 percent, to $40.66 a barrel by 1401 GMT on US West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude futures were down $1.75, or 4.4 percent, at $38.47.

Prices received some respite from progress in US talks on a stimulus package for the world's biggest economy.

US President Donald Trump's administration has proposed a new stimulus package worth more than $1.5 trillion. US Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin (Tuesday) earlier said that talks with House Speaker Nancy Pelosi had made progress on COVID-19 relief legislation, and the House of Representatives postponed a vote on a $2.3 trillion Democratic consumer stimulus plan to allow more time to agree a bipartisian deal.

In Norway, a labour union said it would escalate offshore industrial action to four additional fields from October 1 after dozens of workers went on strike at the 470,000 bpd Johan Sverdrup oilfield. Sverdrup operator Equinor said it could maintain safe operations at the oilfield despite the strike.

US consumer spending gains slow to 1% in August as jobless benefit expires

AP - Washington

US consumer spending slowed in August and personal incomes fell as a $600 weekly benefit for Americans who are unemployed during the pandemic expired.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday that spending grew by just 1 percent, the weakest growth since spending fell 12.7 percent in April when rapidly spreading COVID-19 infections shut down large parts of the economy.

2.7 percent drop in

In August followed a gain of 0.3 percent in the previous three months.

The drop reflected the expiration of the $600 expanded unemployment benefit on July 31. Congress has so far failed to come up with a new virus relief package that would restore the benefit. Economists fear that without further government support the economy will slow significantly in the final three months of the year as consumer spending slows with millions of people still out of work and government support fading.

"Unless employment growth picks up or additional fiscal aid is provided, US consumer spending is at risk of slowing dramatically," said Gregory Daco, chief US economist at Oxford Economics.

Inflation, as measured by a gauge tied to consumer spending, rose 0.1 percent in August and 3.3 percent over the past 12 months. That is well below the Federal Reserve's target to achieve 2 percent annual gains in inflation. The Fed in August said it would continue to buy bonds until inflation rises above 2 percent for a period of time, a change that should keep interest rates low for an extended period of time. The Fed projected no hikes of its benchmark rate through 2021.

Boeing to move 787 production to S Carolina in 2021

The company has struggled in the past few days, indicating a possible plan to cut expenses and raise capital for spending on new technologies such as autonomous and electric vehicles. The company has made progress under CEO Jim Farley, who has been running the company since last year.

Boeing Co said yesterday it will move the rest of its 787 Dreamliner production to South Carolina in 2021, a cost-cutting strategy that raised questions over the future of its giant 787 plant in Washington state.

As recently as last year, Boeing was making record numbers of 787s at its Everett widebody hub north of Seattle and started its second plant in North Charleston, South Carolina.

Boeing said the single site would be in the same efficiency as the US plant maker to adjust to the market and positions for recovery.

But industry officials say raising the specter of a battle between the US plane maker and unionists that could weigh on the shares, they said.

A review of its 787 production, which ended in July along with sweeping rate cuts across two production programs, had already slashed union and politicians in Washington state, who see Boeing struggling to move to its Seattle-area birthplace, something the company denies.

ExxonMobil flags further losses that add to pressure on dividend

Exxon's dividend yield has risen to more than 10 percent over the future its giant Everett hub north of Seattle and - since 2012 - a second plant in North Carolina was the culmination of a ratings agency that it will be relying on debt to operational cash flow, and - since 2012 - a second plant in North Carolina.

Foden out of England squad, Maguire returns

England have dropped Phil Foden and Mason Greenwood for their friendly with Wales and Nations League matches against Denmark and Croatia later this month while Harry Maguire, who has missed the last four of the 30-man squad named by manager Gareth Southgate on Monday, is unlikely to return against Sweden.

Southgate said he had been watching Foden closely in the FA cup and the Premier League, and said the 20-year-old has not been selected for a number of reasons.

“Phil hasn’t been selected because his opportunity to get back on his feet with his club, enjoy that football again. They are both starting to play well again which is good,” Southgate said.

“I can speak to them after this camp and I will tell them their form as well as whether they are selected next time round.”

Both players had appeared in the alternative in the mini-test but Southgate said they had been left out on the basis of his trust that they could be considered for selection.

Maguire returns after he was withdrawn from the England squad against Iceland and Denmark following his arrest and trial in Greece during the early part of the World Cup.

A Greek court found Maguire guilty of repeated bodily harm, attempted bribery, violence, against public employees and insult following his arrest on the island of Mikonos.

“27-year-old was handed a suspended prison sentence of 23 months and 3 days but the United captain has been granted a full pardon after appealing the conviction.

“He has been our most reliable defender over the last couple of years,” Southgate said. “Southgate also denied any concerns about his mental state.

Southgate’s England play Wales on October 8 but two more home games against top-ranked Belgium on October 11 and Denmark on October 14.

There are three new names in the squad.

Leicester midfielder Harvey Barnes, 22, and Arsenal’s 19-year-old 10-year-old Bukayo Saka have been called up for the first time.

Everton striker Dominic Calvert-Lewin has been recognized for scoring eight goals in the opening five games of the season.

James keeps eye on ultimate prize as Lakers win NBA Finals opener

Lakers star Anthony Davis said the team’s win over Miami Heat in Game 1 of the NBA Finals gave them a confidence boost for the rest of the series.

Davis scored 15 points and 11 rebounds as the Lakers cruised to a 116-98 victory in Orlando, but he was quick to dismiss any talk of a title.

“We have a lot of work to do, but it’s a good win,” Davis said.

The Lakers took a 1-0 lead in the series and are now one win away from their 17th NBA title.

The Lakers were dominant in the opening game, outscoring the Heat 38-26 in the first quarter and never looking back.

“Every play matters, and we were able to make some plays where we were able to make the Heat pay for their mistakes,” Davis said.

Lakers head coach Frank Vogel praised his team’s defensive efforts, saying they held the Heat to赛季低分.

“Defensively, we played well,” Vogel said.

Miami Heat head coach Erik Spoelstra said his team was not ready to face a team that has been dominating the league all season.

“We weren’t ready for what we saw tonight,” Spoelstra said.

The Lakers now lead the series 1-0 and will face the Heat again in Game 2 on Sunday.
Djokovic storms ahead, Ostapenko stuns second seed Pliskova in Paris

AP – PARIS

World number one Novak Djokovic took another comfortable stride closer to an 18th Grand Slam title with his 700th win at Roland Garros on Thursday when Ostapenko stunned second seed Karolina Pliskova, throwing the chase for the women’s title wide open.

Djokovic, the 2016 champion, needed just 83 minutes to complete a 6-1, 6-2, 6-2 demolition of Lithuania’s Ricardas Berankis. Berankis, the top seed went with Roger Federer for victory at the tournament, would still be the best placed to beat Novak in the semi-finals after his shock 2017 victory over Marin Cilic and Princi in November 2019.

“We have a young team. It is growing, it is getting international experience,” Djokovic said after his victory.

He will now face Colombian lucky loser Daniel Elahi Galan, ranked 153, for a fourth successive year.

Meanwhile, Al Wakrah qualified for their second final since 2005 after defeating Al Duhail 28-27 in another brickbusting semi-final.

They reached that final by a 19-15 win over Qatar SC.

Al Duhail are targeting their second title after last year being crowned champions in the 2017-2018 season.
